Summary

Full Stack Developer with international experience in Web Design and Development. Earned a certificate in Full Stack Development at the University of Arizona acquiring skills such as JavaScript, JQuery and Rest. Very goal-oriented and problem solver with an innate ability to think out of the box. Web design and development has always been my passion: I started as Lead Web Designer in the Italian leader gaming company realizing the first game portal with more than 350,000 registered users. Then, I worked for four years with a US-based agency working on more than 30 web projects including a custom training portal. My passion and my positive work attitude in web complex backend make me a strong addition to a web development team.
